Horses High.

Danville Advocate—Major David Castleman, of the famous Clifton Stock Farm at Shakertown, was in Danville Saturday and in a talk with the Advocate stated that he had never known a more favorable outlook in the horse market. "Buyers are plentiful and good stock is commanding the best of prices," stated Major Castleman. In his opinion horses will bring a better price this spring than they have in a number of years.

Congressional Announcement

We are authorized to announce Hon Harvey Helm, of Lincoln county, a candidate for re-election to Congress, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Congregation Too Frivolous.

The Rev John Greathouse, formerly of Louisville, resigned his pastorate at Belleville, Illinois, because the congregation was too fashionable to hold revival services and because the women were more interested in their clubs than in their church.

Perfectly Safe.

For several weeks it has been spread broadcast that the "High Bridge" across the Kentucky is unsafe, "that the foundation has sunk almost one foot, that it has been condemned by engineers, etc." These reports arose from the fact that trains are not allowed to run across at greater speed than four miles an hour. This has been the order for years, but never enforced until General Manager Baker took charge of the road. The bridge has recently been inspected by an expert who pronounced it as safe as it ever was. Weight enough would crush it, as it would any other structure in the United States. The new bridge will probably be completed by the end of this year.

It Was Always So.

Human nature is about the same everywhere. It is astonishing how slight a shower of rain will depopulate all the pews in a church, while it requires a deluge to effect disastrously the door receipts of a one horse circus. A blizzard blowing with the mercury down to zero can't keep down crowds at football games or the skating rink, but slight inclemency of the weather will deter nearly an entire congregation from going to church. We are led to make the above suggestive remarks because of the paucity of members in attendance at some of our churches on Sabbath morning and nights when the inclemency of the weather furnished a sufficient excuse for many to remain away from the house of God.

Hon Harvey Helm Announces.

Hon Harvey Helm, our present congressman, was in town Tuesday and made this office a most pleasant call. He gave us his announcement for re-election, which appears in this issue. Mr Helm is making a splendid record in Congress, and the people have every reason to be proud of him. It is a custom and a good one, too, to give a representative the second nomination without opposition and, we are glad to say, the sentiment in Garrard is strongly in favor of re-nominating Mr Helm in this way. He had a hard fight to win the nomination last year, and those Democrats to whom we have talked say unhesitatingly that he should be given another term, not only as an endorsement of his good work in Congress, but as a reward for the splendid service he has given his party. We have heard of no opposition to Mr Helm, and trust there will be none.

Circuit Court.

The March term of the Garrard Circuit Court convened Monday morning, with His Honor, Judge W C Bell on the bench and Commonwealth's Attorney Chas Hardin at his post of duty. The first in order was that of selecting the grand jury, which was done in a very short time. Judge Bell gave a lengthy and comprehensive charge to the jury, calling attention to the duty expected of them, and mentioning in particular many of the laws of the Commonwealth which apply particularly to the local community, especially the liquor laws. He referred to the night riders and barn burners in other sections of the state and congratulated the citizens of Garrard upon the fact that none of this lawlessness has prevailed here. Judge Bell is making a splendid official, and everybody—lawyers, litigants and the public in general—is delighted with this fair and impartial work. Commonwealth's Attorney Hardin is also winning the praise of the people, as is also County Attorney Joe E Robinson, for the able and fearless manner in which they look after the interests of the people. They play no favorites and every one presented at the bar is treated in the same manner. This is the kind of work the law-abiding, law-loving people want, and they admire and applaud officers who not only know their duty but are not afraid to do that duty when their services are called into service. The criminal docket is light this term, nothing of general interest to be tried. It consists of misdemeanors mostly, and there is nothing of general interest. The following is the

CENTRAL RECORD

ISSUED WEEKLY. $1.00 A YEAR.

LOUIS LANDRAM, Edr.-Pubr.

Entered at the Post Office in Lancaster, Ky., as Second-Class Mail Matter.

Member Ky. Press Association.

Lancaster, Ky., March 13, 1908.

girl who hanged herself with a pair of her sweetheart's trousers, in a pocket of which she found a letter from an other girl. The young man boarded at her mother's home, which accounts for her going through his pockets before marriage.

Logic, as applied to candidates, is being very much overworked these days. You can hear men talking about this or that man being the logical candidate who would be unable to recognize logic if they met it on the public highway. Of course, it makes something to talk about and some men do delight to talk politics even if they do not know anything about the subject.

An awning on the Martha Washington hotel in New York burned the other day, set on fire by a lighted cigarette dropped from a window above. This is not a remarkable incident in itself; its only interest lies in the fact that the hotel in question is exclusively for women. Dear, Dear! Isn't it awful?

Fourteen thousand people were present at the Taft dinner in Kansas City a few weeks ago. We don't like to knock, but we have seen that many at window of the local post office the moment the mail is open.

A Southern newspaper wants politicians to be consistent. Well, the moment a politician becomes consistent he ceases to be a politician. That newspaper is asking the impossible.

The strictly party paper is having a pretty hard time of it in this day of independent thought and action on the part of the rank and file of the two great political parties.

Even business men who post prominent "Please Close the Door" signs in their offices will leave your own door wide open when they leave.

Live and learn. Foresighted persons now almost invariably take the precaution to go insane before murdering their families.

Whenever politics get so rampant that it interferes with business and progress of the community it is high time to cut it out.

Taft got Ohio; Bryan got Nebraska; the Irish still have Ireland and the devil takes care of his own.

The cold storage hen is now in active competition with the regular daily output of the poultry yard.

China has no lawyers. Lucky China, no danger of it ever being broke.

Girls born on February 29 need never fear to tell their ages.

Unhappy Marriage.

The universal expectation of married people is that their married lives will always be happy ones, says an exchange. Deluded dreamers! They imagine that they are different from other people, and that when they enter the portal of matrimony, love, peace and prosperity will be their attendants. Such ones had better by far consider themselves the same as others, but form iron resolutions that will keep them from the dangerous coasts, upon which so many have been wrecked and ruined. Unhappy marriages depend upon many causes. Previous to marriage, many try to appear more intellectual, more amiable, or more accommodating than they really are. Depend upon it, that love brought into existence by a moonlight stroll strengthened by deceit and fashionable displays, and finally consummated through the influence of intriguing friends, will fade in after life almost as fast as the flowers which compose the bridal wreath.

Tobacco Growers, Attention!

Having been asked several times the question, "will you insure tobacco for me this year?" I want to state that so long as the condition remains as it is now in Garrard county, I will, but only for the whole of the entire property in the company that is to carry the hazardous part of their risk, or it is hardly fair to ask one company to take the worst part of the risk or that which some other agent can handle. Assuring all my patrons who want to have their tobacco insured, I am willing to protect them if I can. J H Kinnaird, Agent

Mrs R N Beazley is on the sick list at this writing.

Miss Dove Marrett, of Parksville, is visiting Mr Dan Burchell and family.

The American tobacco warehouse has closed down until next fall. It will open up again if there is any more tobacco raised this year.

Mr E C McWhorter has opened a nice line of furniture with his hardware and grocery store. He invites the people to give him a call and see his stock of goods.

Raymond Redwine Allen.

The death angel has visited the home of Mr and Mrs Thomas Allen, and claimed for its victim their darling little boy, Raymond Redwine. He was born November 25th 1905, and was christened January 20th 1907 by Rev F D Palmer, and died January 15th 1908. He was sick just a few days with the measles and pneumonia, and passed over the river to live with our dear Jesus, who loved him best of all. Oh, it was so hard to give him up. All was done that fond hands could do. Little Raymond was such a sweet and loving child, no one ever heard him cry, unless he was sick or hurt. He was loved by all who knew him.

May we all live to meet our darling one in heaven. Don't grieve dear papa and mama, our little darling is gone from this world of toil and pain, but in heaven we will meet him, thank God we will never part again. Sweet little darling the light of our home, looking for some of the loved ones to come, bright as the sun beam pure as the dew, watching dear papa and mama for you. After prayer services by F D Palmer, his little body was laid to rest in a white casket in the Caversham cemetery. Willie May and Mary C Roop.

He is Just Away.

In being remembrance of a brother, W B Terrell who died March 4th 1907.

"I can not say and I will not say, That he is dead—he's just away, With a cheery smile and a wave of his hand.

He has wandered into an unknown land, And left us dreaming how very fair, It needs must be linger there.

And you, O you, who the wildest

yearn,

For the old-time step and the glad return.

Think of his faring on as dear,

In the love of There as the love of Here,

Think of him the same, I say,

He is not dead, he is just away."

Danville Advocate:—The annual meeting of the Central University Athletic Association was held Saturday for the purpose of arranging for the coming May Carnival. The most important event was the election of the Queen, and this year the honor was accorded Miss Mayme Lillard, one of the most popular girls in Danville's younger social set. The selection of Miss Lillard does not come as a surprise to those who are acquainted with her popularity among the students. None in the city can lay claim to more friends than she, and it is a fitting compliment to her that she be Queen. She is admirably endowed with every requisite for such a station—being popular, attractive, charming and winsome, and it goes without saying that she will fill the place most acceptably. The Varsity men are to be congratulated upon their choice.

The best on the Road. The four numbers of the W C T U, entertainments having been rendered. Hal Merton, a famous magician, ventriloquist and general entertainer, will appear at the court house under the auspices of the same ladies on Thursday evening March 12 (tonight) at 8 p.m. His services were procured at a reduced rate, as he had an open date in this section of the state, and for that reason reserved seats are on sale at McRae's drug store at 35cts, general admission 25cts. This will afford everyone an opportunity to see one of the most unique attractions on the road at a greatly reduced price, and, at the same time, enable them to help a good cause. The press all over the mention is replete with testimonials regarding the success of Hal Merton.

Remember the Minstrel show at the court house tomorrow (Friday) night. It's given by a professional troupe now touring the country and under auspices of Lancaster Odd Fellow's Lodge. Don't miss it.

William Jefferson Hogan.

William Jefferson Hogan, the subject of this notice, died at his home in Bryantsville, after an illness of several months, Monday March 2, 1908. The funeral services were conducted the next day at his residence by Rev P J Ross in his usual efficient and impressive style. The interment took place in the Lancaster cemetery. Mr Hogan was born near Bryantsville Nov 1 1832 and had spent all his life in Garrard county, where he was highly esteemed and esteemed by all who knew him. During the Civil War, he served with distinction as Captain of the Union Army and in 1866 was married to Miss Margaret Baughman, of Lincoln county. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and a most devoted and faithful member of the Methodist Church for 35 years he had been Superintendent of the Sunday school and had resigned that position only recent account of ill health, during that time he had also been steward of the church, several of his former pastors having said that "Bro Hogan was one of the best stewards they had ever known." And after his illness when he was no longer able to go to see the members on business affairs of the church he would send for them to come to see him. By his death the Methodist church loses one of its most influential members, the community, one of its most upright and Godly citizens. Mr Hogan is survived by his wife, and two daughters, Mrs Eliza H Ballard and Mrs W T Woolfolk, of Lexington and one sister, Mrs Anne Dunn, of Noblesville, Ind., besides five grand children, Miss Mayme Ballard, Messrs Hogan and Bryan Ballard; Misses Anna Lee and Margaret Woolfolk, of Lexington. It is unnecessary to say that in the death of Capt Hogan, his family have sustained an irreparable loss, of a most dearly beloved one whose vacant chair will ever be the source of deepest sorrow and grief to them but then while this is so, they have the consoling thought left them, that their grief is not as those who have no hope as they know his is in a "world that is fairer and brighter than this," where all is joy and parting will be no more.

The following resolutions were passed by the Bryantsville Sunday School:

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas God in his infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our Sunday School former Superintendent, Capt W J Hogan.

Therefore it is resolved,

That in his death this Sunday School has lost a faithful and able support.

The church a strong pillar.

The family a devoted husband and father.

The community a loyal, upright noble citizen and to many of us a friend and counselor.

Strong in faith, devoted to duty, conservative in principles, consistent in action, his strength of character was apparent to all. We therefore commend his life as a noble example.

Resolved: That we express our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family and commend them to the Eternal and unchangeable love of Him who doeth all things well.

P J Rose Pastor, R K Swope, Mrs G B Rose, Miss Elisa Ison. Com.

FATHER AND CHILDREN.

Stirring Story of the Progress of Christianity in Uganda.

From darkest Africa in 1875, Stanley sent out the challenge through the London Daily Telegraph, "Now, where in all the pagan world is there a more promising field for a mission? Here, gentlemen, is your opportunity; embrace it!"

Three days later the challenge was accepted. A gift of £5,000 was offered for the establishment of a mission in Uganda, and men went forth to lay down their lives in the land of Livingstone.

It was not only the fever that killed them. Uganda had extraordinary tragedies. Among the rest was the death of the missionary, Bishop Hannington, who was murdered by an African chief by command of the wicked King Mwanga.

Mwanga was the son of the king who first greeted the missionaries in 1871. Mtesa, the father, bade them heartily welcome, and was very desirous to know whether they had brought "the Book" with them. But his friendship was fickle; and the son who succeeded him was both a worse man than his father and a weaker one; and under his reign the missionaries were often in peril of their lives, and some of them, like Hannington, met martyrdom.

It was a most discouraging sequel to the welcome accorded the missionaries by Mwanga's father, and there were those in England who proposed to give up the mission altogether. By that time Mackay was there, and by his courage and tenacity and the faithful devotion of others the mission continued.

The son of the king who welcomed the missionaries became the murderer of the missionaries. But he, too, had a son. In 1885 Hannington was murdered. Twenty-one years later, in 1906, the son of Hannington baptized the present king, son of the man who murdered his father. Here, surely, was an example of poetic justice, and a proof of the value of holding on.

Religion, says Youth's Companion, has a firm hold in Uganda to-day, and thousands attend worship every Sunday. Those who endured the persecutions of 20 years ago rejoice that times have changed.

The life of Hannington was not thrown away. Men die, but the work lives. There is a verse in the Psalms which is full of promise for generations that have reached the limit of their upward progress: "Instead of thy fathers shall be thy children whom thou mayest make princes in all the earth."

NOTES.

The Salvation Army is established in 52 countries and colonies and preaches the gospel in 31 languages.

"How shall we secure a greater attendance of young people at our Sunday schools?" inquires an anxious superintendent. If anything else fails, brother, try a box of fudges, says the Chicago Tribune.

The heroines are not all dead yet. One of them returned from Japan last month, where she had been a missionary for 13 years. She left her two young children in America when she went to teach Christianity to the Japanese, and when she returned they had grown so that she did not recognize them as they stood on the pier, waiting for her to disembark from the steamship. If the Japanese do not appreciate the sacrifice that she has made for their sake, remarks Youth's Companion, all mothers will understand how great it was.

Agnes Paynter and Nellie M. Bryant, missionaries in Ceylon, write: "One of the objects worshipped on Komati Lanké Island was a huge, high post, with a few bunches of corn tied at the top."

The convention of the Presbyterian Brotherhood of America will be held in Cincinnati, November 12 to 14. There will be an exchange of practical information about the work successful organizations are doing.

Fetish Priests Converted.
At Badagry (where the first missionaries to the Yoruba country, on the west coast of Africa, landed in 1854), Bishop Oluwolope recently baptized an old woman who had been a fetish priestess. Her husband became a convert to Christianity about 40 years ago, and was baptized in 1869. The bishop says, "It was with great joy that both the husband and the children witnessed her baptism."

Remember that when the Stomach nerves fail or weaken, Dyspepsia or Indigestion must always follow. But, strengthen these same weak inside nerves with Dr Shoop's Restorative, and then see how quickly health will again return. Weak Heart and Kidney nerves can also be strengthened with the Restorative, where Heart pains, palpitation, or weakness is found. Don't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Go to the cause of these ailments. Strengthen these weak inside nerves with Dr Shoop's Restorative and get well. A simple test will surely tell. R E McRoberts.

Mr Norman R Coulter, a prominent architect, in the Deloit Building San Francisco, says: "I fully endorse all that has been said of Electric Bitters as tonic medicine. It is good for everybody. It corrects stomach, liver and kidney disorders in a prompt and efficient manner and builds up the system." Electric Bitters is the best strong medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter; as a blood purifier it is unequalled 50c. at McRoberts drug store.

TOO MUCH FOR MAID'S NERVES.

New Girl Felt Herself Unequal to Elaborate Ceremony.

The young wife was perhaps the most meticulous housekeeper in the greater city. She fairly lived for the annihilation of dust particles, and her three maids knew a degree of discipline more rigid than that of Gen. Blucher. One day her waitress departed, an exceedingly common occurrence in even a flawless establishment. A new maid came to take her place. After an elaborate inquisition, the new servant was engaged on probation. The young wife explained:

"Come to the dining room with me. You will have a rehearsal. I want to see you spread the table for a dinner for four. Now go into the pantry, where you will find my table china on indexed shelves. My forks are all indexed and I shall sit here. Now you serve me—on course with blank plates. I am having oyster cocktail, soup, fish, an entree, a roast, salad, ices and coffee."

The new maid groped through the weird ceremony, and the foodless feast proceeded amid silence. Finally the maid whimpered:

"I guess I am going. I couldn't do this every night." She fled.

Dread Waterspout.

What it means to encounter a waterspout in the South seas is described by Beatrice Grimshaw: "First of all, a black trunk, like an elephant's, began to feel blindly about in midair, hanging from a cloud. It came nearer and nearer with uncanny speed, drawing up to itself as it came a colossal cone of turbulent sea, until the two joined together in an enormous black pillar some quarter of a mile broad at the base and probably a thousand feet high, uniting as it did the clouds and the sea below. Across the darkening sea, against the threatening copper-crimson sunset came this gigantic roar, waltzing over troughs of torn-up water in a veritable dance of death, trying to find and shatter our fragile little ship."

"Because the law on the point is against you."
